

Gloria L. Funk-Jones

April 18, 1926 — Sept. 7, 2004

Sequim resident Gloria L. Funk-Jones died from cancer in Port Angeles. She was 78.

She was born in Harrah to Leo and Lois (Gardner) Gregson, and married Gene Funk, Dec. 27, 1953. He died Jan. 11, 1993.

She studied clothing design at the University of Washington and was a real estate broker for 48 years, living in Olympia, Colville and Sequim.

On Feb. 18, 1994, she married Wilbur E. Jones.

Mrs. Funk-Jones enjoyed cooking, traveling and church.

She belonged to Gardiner Community Church, to Eastern Star and to Rhododendron Grange.

Survivors include her spouse of Sequim; sons and daughters-in-law Gregson and Raejean Funk of Snohomish and Alan and Carolyn Jones of Diamond Point; six grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Besides her first husband, she was preceded in death by brother Glen Gregson.

Services: Saturday, Sept. 18, 11 a.m. memorial at Gardiner Community Church; a reception follows the service. Sequim Valley Funeral Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

Memorials: Gideons International, P.O. Box 1695, Sequim, WA 98382.